

Summer Internship Program

Introduction

We would like to present the Prevent Child Abuse America Summer Internship Program, designed to both provide college students with real-world non-profit experience and further advance Prevent Child Abuse America's mission to prevent the abuse and neglect of our nation's children. Students are invited to apply for one of the unpaid Summer 2017 internships to assist with a wide assortment of projects across our departments – see page 3 for list.

Program Specifics

- Typical internships last May/June to August/September when students often return to school. We can be flexible on start and end dates to accommodate varying school schedules.
- We can also be flexible with weekly schedules to accommodate other commitments, such as part-time jobs. For example, interns may work two or three days/week.
- In some cases, we are able to extend internships into the fall if students have graduated and not yet found employment, their school starts later than others or if students wish to continue internships while in school.
- This program is open to students studying or living in the Chicago area when home on break or to students open to working remotely for one of Prevent Child Abuse America's staff members located around the country.
- Applicants will have the ability to prioritize their interests against our needs listed on the application. We will do our best to match your interests with our needs but may also ask for some flexibility as well.
- Previous experience not required.

Application Process

- Interested students should submit completed applications along with a resume and writing sample to Robert Allen (contact information provided on application). The writing sample can be anything from a class paper you are particularly proud of to a project from a previous work experience. We just want to get a sense of your writing ability.
- We will screen all applications and contact prospects for in-person interviews (or by phone if you live outside of Chicago area) with Mr. Allen and/or the department head of the area in which you have interest or where we see the greatest fit.
